WHAT A GLASS OF WHISKY IS.

NOT NECESSARILY HALF

A GILL. A Glasgow magistrate has decided that a glass of whisky is not necessarily half a gill. The magistrate, Mr. G. Smith, was concluding the hearing of a case in which a wine and spirit merchant, Margaret Coggans, of Bookcases, Cottage Piano, Gramo- Salt-market, Glasgow, was charged phone, Records, Chesterfield with a contravention of the Weights and Measures Act by supplying short measure.

It was stated that an inspector of weights and measures ordered in Coggans's shop two glasses of whisky, which were found each to gill by four fluid drachms. Another inspector who asked for half a gill received correct measure.

The case for the prosecution was that when a glass of whisky was asked for it was tantamount to ordering half a gill. For the defence it was contended that the Act did not apply to such a case as this, and that no! imperial measure had been demanded. Mr. Smith said that, according to the evidence, it was not the general custom in the city to supply half a gill when a glass was ordered. Coggans was found not guilty.

NO MARRIAGE FOR WOMEN: DOCTORS.

MUST BE "BACHELORS" OF MEDICINE.

Should women doctors marry? Birmingham General Hospital authorities think not. They fear waste the hospital's time by having babies.

At the annual meeting they !." decided, by 26 votes to 16, that, apart from exceptional cases, mar- 1 ried women should not be eligible for appointments on the medical staff, and that women members of J the staff who got married should be required to resign.

The disorganisation of the work of the hospital caused by the demand of the domestic duties of J married doctors was given as the reason for this decision.

The Bishop of Birmingham, Dr. Barnes, who strongly opposed the J resolution, said it meant that marriage was a bar to the most c important positions in the medical profession in Brmingham.

Bishop Hamilton Baytes said the resolution might deprive the hospital of the services of women doctors who would be available.

It was a serious discouragement to women entering the medical profession. On the other hand, it might discourage them from entering the state of matrimony, and lead to undesirable relations between them and men.

Councillor Miss Bartley, chairman of the board of governors, said the question had arisen following the application by a married woman doctor for four months' leave of absence because she was going to have a baby.

The governors were intent upon keeping the hospital efficient, and preventing dislocation due to prolonged absence of members of the staff.

A BABY GIVEN AWAY IN THE STREET.

TAKEN BY NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY TO POLICE.

A "human document" was delivered to the police-station Leman-street (Whitechapel). Lamey, of Pinchin-street, Stepney, walked in just before 7 o'clock, Shanghai Fushimi Maru bringing with him a baby girl aged

The child, he explained, had just | America and *Europe via Victoria been handed to him in Hooperstreet, Stepney, by a woman, together with a note which was addressed to the "Police, please."

It read as follows:— "Please take my baby where she can be looked after. my last on her tea. She has had Straits, Ceylon, India, Mauritius, plenty to cat.

"I hope God will forgive me, but it is the only way. Until I read in the papers that she is in God's hands there is nothing for me to live for. Be good to her. I love her. My heart is breaking. God forgive me.

Her mamma." The police took the child to the nursery department of the Mile End Hospital, Stepney.

It is a pretty little girl, with red hair, blue eyes and fresh complexion, and has every appearance of having been well nourished.

According to the boy, the woman was about 20, short, dressed in a grey coat, dark fur collar, small blue hat, light stockings and black patent shoes.

NO ADMITTANCE.

Shanghai is apparently determined not to lose its unique distinction of being practically the only big city in the world to-day which does not admit Press representatives to the meetings of its Municipal Council. For the fourth time, the issue was recently put to ratepayers for decision, and even the very moderate scheme advocated was turned down. should be explained that the proposal submitted to the meeting was not that all Press representatives should have the right to attend the meetings of the Council but that the newspapers be invited to select two or three experienced representatives who should alone have the privilege of entry to the Council Chamber, and that arrangements be made so that the reports thus secured should be later circulated to all newspapers desiring to receive them. In ad- wave stations are highly dition, the official and complete couraging features in the spread minutes of the meetings were to be available as soon as possible to the Press, excluding only such matters as it would be undesirable to publish. But the ratepayers tries through the medium of short struck by a winch spoke, whilst would not approve even this modest plan, an amendment being overwhelmingly adopted embodying merely the second part of the proposal.

We have read through the official report of the meeting at which this astounding decision was reached, and we cannot conceive why any body of ratepayers should be so lacking in public spirit as to swallow all the old familiar objections to the admitshort of amazing that in the Year ed. WHO WAS-ATTILA?

References were often made to Attila during the Great War, since the onrush of the German armies through Belgium recalled to mind the laying waste of Europe by this famous Hun leader in the middle of the fifth century A.D. Murdering his brother, At-tila secured the undivided supremacy, not only of the Huns, but over a great number of other Teutonic tribes, whom he led first of all against Eastern Europe, sacking the country around Constantinople, and then against the West, defeating the Burgundians and marching into the heart of Gaul.

- Roman legions and their allies, the Visigoths, hurried to offer battle to Attila, and the armies fought a terrific battle on the plain of Chalonssur-Marine. Fortune was kind to the Huns who were able to extricate themselves from a precarious position, and nextyear Attila flung his hordes across the Alps to ravage the whole of Northern Italy. Twelve months or so later the great leader died from the bursting of a blood-vessel. and the huge Empire over which he held sway immediately dissolved.

Farmers in Western Canada, says the woman whose appeal has opened the subject, are in such dire need of housekeepers that some of them are starving because they cannot cook and have no one to cook for them. They work hard, and have no time left for attention to culinary matters. There have even been cases, she claims, of men actually dying of starvation.

AGED COUPLE OFF TO AMERICA.

GOLDEN WEDDING TRIP TO SEE CHILDREN.

To celebrate their golden wedding with their children in America, one of whom they have not seen for 20 years, Mr. and Mrs. John Ambler, of Halifax, are making their first Atlantic voyage. They sailed from Liverpool for New York in the Arabic.

Mr. Ambler, who is 70, has been employed as a labourer by the Halifax Corporation for 40 years. He has been granted two months' holiday to allow him to make the

"It was my wife's wish that we should go," Mr. Ambler told a Daily Chronicle representative before sailing. "We are going to do the thing properly and spend £150 on the trip, but I should not have gone if I had not been able to get off from my work."

... Mr. and Mrs. Ambler will first visit a married · daughter, whom they have not seen for 20 years, at Rhode Island, and go on to Springfield, Mass., to join a son and daughter.

They will have covered 7,000 miles by the time they return to England.

STAR SUED BY HER SECRETARY.

NO WAGES PAID FOR TEN YEARS.

Tears, such as theatre-goers seldom see on the stage, were shed by Marie Jeritza, the famous opera singer, in a Vienna court-room, where she was sued by her former friend, companion and secretary.

Fraulein Grete Leiss-Laimburg claimed £2,300 for services rendered over a period of ten years during which she had received no wages. While frankly admitting that she never paid the secretary, Jeritza claimed that she had treated her more like a member of her own family than as a domestic employee. She also declared that whenever the matter of payment had been broached Leiss-Laimburg had always insisted that her work for Jeritza was a labour of love, for

SENATOR'S ATTACK ON AUTHOR.

INDECENT BOOK DETAILED IN AMERICA.

"Such books will be admitted to the United States only over my dead body-they are not only obscene; they are damnable."

Thus dramatically did Senator Reed Smoot urge the adoption by the United States Senate of his amendment to the present law against obscene books and pietures. ...

The amendment, which was adopted after 12 hours' debate, restores to Customs officials the power—taken from them two months ago-to refuse entry into America of works they consider might undermine the morals of the people.

Before such works can be definitely banned, however, they must be submitted to a judge and jury for final decision.

The debate covered questions ranging from the difference between heaven and hell, and whether Rabelais was any worse than the "hot" magazines sold to millions of Americans.

Milder Than Shakespeare.

One speaker compared "Lady Chatterley's Lover" with Shakespeare's works.

.He declared the late D. H. Lawrence, the author, wrote books which were mild compared with Shakespear's "King Lear."

Senator Cutting, chief opponent of the amendment, pointed to a copy of "Lady Chatterley's Lover" lying on Senator Smoot's desk, and accused him of avidly reading it. The infuriated Mr. Smoot retorted that he had only read the first

In a final speech, Senator Smoot, a prominent official of the Mormon Church, declared obscene books should be barred from the country in the same way as dangerous private opinion of Mr. Seymour

"I am glad to answer that, sir! Mr. Crosby is a gentleman in the finest sense of the word. I have never known him to do a dishonourable or discourteous-"

"Was he in love with his wife?" Dundee interrupted. "To the point of infatuation, sir!

'And Miss Phyllis adored him." "Wickett, do you yourself know anything at all, beyond what came out at the inquest, regarding Mrs. Crosby's death, or the causes leading up to it?"

"Absolutely nothing sir! I could only believe she had gone temporarily and suddenly insane. She was going to have a child, you know,

"That's all for the present, Wickett. . . . And thank you very much. Will you please tell Mr. Crosby to come to us here?" The butler bowed and was departing when Dundee stopped him. "One thing more, Wickett. Can you give me the full name and address of Doris's sister, Kathy?"
